Bugfix

Incorrect line break in email

In the email window - if you did not have a signature - when pressing enter the cursor moved far down on the screen.

This caused what looked like a "double line break".

The log reader dialog is now draggable

The expanded log reader dialog is now draggable.

The worklog and email dialog is no longer modal

The worklog dialog (with email and worklog) was modal.

This resulted in it no being possible to copy text from the background area.

This is changed here so that the modality feature is disabled and enabling copying of text from the background area.

Escape is closing the worklog dialog and changes will be lost

Escape is closing the worklog dialog and changes will be lost.

This feature is disabled. Nothing will now happen when escape is pressed.

Right click and copy in the new text editor
